

CHAPTER SEVEN

---

The Programing

The author appreciates the time you have spent so far to do your blueprint exercise. It is a very important step to change your life. You have now created a definite purpose aligned to your true north, and the author wishes to congratulate you. You have now drafted your destination. You know where you have to go to see the light. You understand the universal laws, you know what it takes to be abundant, and your blueprint is designed in keeping with the concepts of the secret formulas.

This now brings you to a new level. You are at the bottom of a hill, and you know how to get to the peak. The bad news is that even though you took the time and passion to create your blueprint, you may not achieve it. I repeat, you may not achieve it. You may have the driving force, and you may know the direction to where you want to go, but remember that you still have to get there. When I wrote down in my goals that I will be a billionaire, and this book will be a bestseller, and that it will change my life and the lives of many others around the world, there was only one message I heard, and that was “Nonsense.” How could a person like you do that? You are not a genius. What makes you think you can write? Unfortunately, you will not get there without first conquering this voice within you.

If you analyze this book, the author has presented its contents so far in two parts. The first part is about why you should find your definite purpose, and how you should follow the blueprint to take your life to the next level, like some successful people have done before you. The second part is about how to design your definite purpose, or your blueprint so that you can be precise, and you can focus on it. Now we discuss the third part; the game changer, which is the blueprint used by people before you to become successful, and stay successful. This game changer will power your blueprint to become a reality. This sector is on how your blueprint can be converted to the blueprint to take your life to the next level, and stay in the next level.

A game changer could be the point you scored in the first half of a sports game, which allowed you to fully defend in the second half and win the game. In an opposite pole, a game changer could be when a player of your favorite sports team got a red card, and was asked to leave the field. Then the opposite team scored the points for the win. Something happens in a game changer, and a party wins because of it.

Here is another example of a game changer. You carefully uprooted a plant which did not flower, as it was shady where it was planted, and you relocated this plant to a sunny place in the garden. With this change, and with plenty of sun this plant flowers again. This chapter is all about a game changer, which will make your blueprint a reality.

It is about belief. Belief which can make you win, and achieve what you want to achieve. It is to make sure that the plant will flower, and the tree will bear fruit, by making sure that there is plenty of sunlight. A plant goes to sleep at night with the hope that it wakes in the morning, that something will happen, and that it will produce its energy. It believes that this something, which it does not fully understand, will show up.

A deer roaming in the forest will know that there will be water and food the following day. The deer believes that this something of an energy will give the plant its energy, so that when it eats the plant, this energy will be transferred to the deer, and that it will live.

A mother with a growing baby in her womb has not seen what is growing inside her belly, but she knows that it is something beautiful, something heavenly, something so complete, and she will protect this growing cell with all of her life.

The Programing

The plant believes that the sun will shine. The deer believes that the sun will shine, and that there will be food in the forest. The mother believes that the baby is a beautiful angel. If she did not believe that, you would not have been born.

Belief is the fuel for the journey. Without the right beliefs, you cannot reach success, or your definite purpose. A lack of positive beliefs will prevent you from getting there. Your blueprint stays as a blueprint on paper, unless you fuel your blueprint with the right beliefs. Without beliefs, your mental creation will never have the positive energy to become a physical creation. Your life will never see the light. This is where most humans fail. This is where the rich man stays as a rich man, and the poor man stays as a poor man. The universe is a design of belief. A cell in a plant is designed to believe in the sun, and the powers that the sun has. You are designed to believe that you will wake up the following morning, and that your soul will still be inside your body. We are designed to believe, but the problem is in the environment we live in. It has given us the wrong negative information, and has shown us a world of scarcity.

Are you programed to receive the abundance you consciously desire? Well if not, you will not receive it. It is all there, but the issue is that you are not in alignment to receive it. A belief is a state of mind. It is a state of mind where a person thinks that something is to be the case. It is to agree that something is to be the case, without experiencing it with your five senses.

Believing is to think that something will be the case from the inside world, when you have still not seen it on the outside world. It is the activation of the sixth sense. It is to agree on the first creation, and think that the second creation will come along. Believing is the cause. It is not the effect. What you cause will effect.

